

Five Easy Walks in the Woods - Pelham, NH

Wolven Conservation Area

This 23-acre conservation area on Currier Road has a little less than a mile of walking trails through a beautiful, wooded area with ferns, native plants, and field habitat. The trails are well maintained with 3 resting benches along the trails.

Little Island Pond Conservation Area

This small conservation area at the end of Nature's Way is in the watershed of Little Island Pond with a little less than a mile of walking trails. The orange trail loop is an easy, pleasant walk in the woods.

Costa Conservation Area

The white trail in this neighborhood conservation area on Frontier Drive is a 1.25 mile walk in the woods. Follow the directional signs to the white trail and back to the parking lot.

Merriam Farm Conservation Area

This former working farm on Mammoth Road has a beautiful 15-acre field habitat that hosts birds and other species that depend on fields to survive. The 1.6 mile trail winds through the woods on the edge of the field and down to a sitting bench at Beaver Brook.

Gumpus Pond Conservation Area - Blue Trail Loop

A 1-mile loop trail through beaver ponds filled with wildlife. This trail is considered an easy to medium difficulty trail. Wear sturdy shoes and use hiking poles if you have mobility issues. A favorite spot for nature photographers, several viewing benches provide resting spots for nature observation.

Stay on marked trails. Trail maps can be printed at www.pelhamweb.com/forestry-committee. You can also download the Explorer for ArcGIS App to your IOS or Android device and search for PELHAM TRAILS.
